Book Reader

George was a local Seattle boy with some construction experience who was drafted into the Army in 1943 and sent to the Pacific theater of operations in China to build roads so supplies could reach Americans. Busted down to private for an infraction, he was sent deep into China to help with an airfield construction to host P-38 aircraft to fight the air war against Japan. George tells an intimate personal story of his experience in China, through the end of the war.

Pershing Minute

As a Military Cadet he developed 2 sides of his personality. Individual and friend—warm, fun-loving who liked to drink and make merry, had keen eye for ladies, frequenting Flirtation Walk. In Military matters Pershing was all business, commanding speech, stickler for details, adhered to rules and regs and made sure everyone did also. He was elected as First Captain his senior year.
